INVITATION TO SUPPORT

Dear Industry Colleagues,

On behalf of the American Clinical Neurophysiology Society (ACNS), I invite you to participate in the 2016 Annual Meeting & Courses, taking place February 10-14, 2016 in Orlando, Florida.

The American Clinical Neurophysiology Society (ACNS) is a professional association dedicated to fostering excellence in Clinical Neurophysiology and furthering the understanding of central and peripheral nervous system function in health and disease through education, research, and the provision of a forum for discussion and interaction.

This year's scientific program will feature the latest scientific advances in Clinical Neurophysiology presented by leading national and international experts in the field. The ACNS Program and Course Committees have invested their efforts in audience interactivity, developing creative ways to engage members and delegates with a program promises to be challenging and dynamic.

As the Program and Course Committee have done with the scientific program, we seek to help you connect with attendees on a meaningful level as well. With that goal in mind, the ACNS Development Committee has compiled a number of opportunities for supporters to engage ACNS members and meeting delegates, from a vibrant exhibit hall to the Product Theaters, (complete information on page 16).

Reserve your exhibit space early – the hall was sold out last year, and we expect an even greater turnout in Houston! Daily meal functions in the hall offer you the opportunity to put your company's name and products foremost in the minds of more than 450 delegates.

Then extend your reach beyond the traditional exhibit experience by supporting the science that really is driving force behind this meeting. Grant opportunities are available for support of sessions, including the plenary sessions which will draw together the entire delegation. We are also very excited to introduce the Evening Programs, which are, in effect, extensions of your exhibit and offer your company the opportunity to demonstrate your products to a captive audience and to delve more deeply into what your company has to offer.

This meeting offers supporters the opportunity to connect with the thought-leaders in the field of Clinical Neurophysiology and those training the future of the field. We urge you to be a part of it.

We look forward to seeing you in Orlando!

Sincerely,

William O. Tatum, IV, DO
President

ABOUT ACNS

About the American Clinical Neurophysiology Society (ACNS)

ACNS is a professional association dedicated to fostering excellence in clinical neurophysiology and furthering the understanding of central and peripheral nervous system function in health and disease through education, research, and the provision of a forum for discussion and interaction.

Founded in 1946 and originally named the American Electroencephalographic Society (AEEGS), ACNS is the major professional organization in the United States devoted to the establishment and maintenance of standards of professional excellence in clinical neurophysiology in the practice of neurology, neurosurgery and psychiatry. ACNS members utilize neurophysiology techniques in the diagnosis and management of patients with disorders of the nervous system and in research examining the function of the nervous system in health and disease.

ACNS Educational Mission Statement

Content

ACNS is committed to providing continuing medical education to its members and others interested in clinical neurophysiology. Educational objectives include 1) Reviewing current knowledge of clinical neurophysiology including: electroencephalography, evoked potentials, electromyography, nerve conduction studies, intraoperative monitoring, polysomnography and other sleep technology, quantitative neurophysiological methods, magnetoencephalography, sleep disorders, epilepsy, neuromuscular disorders, brain stimulation, brain-computer interfacing, and related areas; and 2) Informing course and meeting attendees of recent technological developments and their implications for clinical practice.

Target Audience

The Society's educational activities are directed to clinical neurophysiologists, neurologists, psychiatrists, physiatrists, neurosurgeons, trainees in these disciplines and other physicians and researchers who utilize clinical neurophysiological techniques and knowledge in the diagnosis and management of patients with disorders of the nervous system.

Expected Result

Attendees will improve competence in clinical neurophysiology procedures and incorporate new technological advancements into their practice.

GENERAL EXHIBITS INFORMATION

Exhibitor Application Information

To reserve an exhibit booth, complete the application and contract for exhibit space and return it with full payment to the ACNS Executive Office. Exhibit space is assigned based on the date the application and fees are received.

Application Review

ACNS will review all exhibit applications to determine whether they satisfy basic criteria such as: whether the product/services described specifically relate to the practice of clinical neurophysiology, and whether the exhibit is of informational value to Annual Meeting delegates.

Product/Service Descriptions

ACNS is pleased to again offer supporters the opportunity to extend their reach outside their exhibit booths with the opportunity to host a product theater! On Thursday evening, February 11, space will be made available to supporters following the close of the Annual Courses, including a standard meeting set, standard AV and catering provided by ACNS in common areas outside the sessions. Then, on Friday, February 12 and Saturday, February 13, product theater sessions will be featured over an extended lunch hour in a designated area of the exhibit hall. Companies may program session content and are responsible for the costs of speakers and materials. Acknowledgement will be made in a special section of the Final Program and on signage outside the session. Product Theater space is limited and will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis determined by date of receipt of program fees. *Reservation deadline for this grant – December 15, 2015.

Exhibitor Relocation

If it becomes necessary to relocate an exhibitor after a space assignment has been made, ACNS will contact the company involved and every effort will be made to reassign the exhibitor to a similar space.

Traffic Generating Activity!

Again this year, ACNS will sponsor a traffic-generating activity, designed to encourage meeting delegates to visit the Exhibit Hall and interact with vendors. A "bingo" card will be provided to delegates with their registration materials, and exhibitors will be provided with official game markers to signify that the delegate visited their booths. Those delegates who return completed bingo cards will be entered into a raffle for prizes, including complimentary ACNS membership and meeting registrations, and various books and other educational materials authored by ACNS members.

If your company is interested in donating a prize for the raffle, please contact ACNS Executive Director Megan M. Hille, CMP at mhille@acns.org. All prizes must be PhARMA and AdvaMed-compliant, in good taste and consistent with the mission of ACNS. ACNS may decline any prizes it deems inappropriate.

- The sponsoring company is welcome to invite the instructors of their choice, and any number they wish.
- Either company personnel or physicians may serve as instructors.
- Faculty speaking in ACNS-programmed Annual Meeting & Courses sessions may serve as product theater instructors, as long as they do not receive compensation of any kind from product theater supporters.
- Product theater supporters are responsible for contacting chosen instructors to invite them to participate and then to communicate the names of confirmed instructors to ACNS. ACNS will not contact potential instructors and will assume that names submitted have been confirmed in advance.

Who is responsible for funding instructors?

- The sponsoring company is responsible for all expenses incurred by their instructors, subject to the company's own internal guidelines and agreements with the instructors.
- ACNS will not pay for instructor expenses, unless the individual is also participating in the Annual Meeting & Courses.

Expert Panel

$10,000

The ACNS Annual Meeting & Courses will draw more than 400 of the best and brightest in the field of Clinical Neurophysiology. Take advantage of that experience and expertise gathered in one place by convening an Expert Panel! Your company will have the opportunity to select up to seven (7) ACNS members to attend a closed-door brainstorming session, led by your staff addressing the topics of your choice. Have a burning R&D question that only a physician in the field could answer? The ACNS Expert Panel is the perfect venue to ask!

ACNS will provide a room to accommodate up to 10 participants, a standard audio-visual set upon request, and lunch.

Specific ACNS participants may be requested by the sponsoring company and are subject to availability and agreement by the physician. ACNS cannot guarantee the participation of specific members and may make substitution suggestions upon request.

Product Theater Rules and Regulations

Program Entries

ACNS will include information on the product theaters both on the Annual Meeting & Courses website in advance of the meeting, and as part of the Final Program distributed to delegates onsite. A Product Theater Details Form will be distributed to companies upon confirmation of participation and receipt of the fee. The form includes space for each company to indicate the title and topic of the product theater, the names of the instructors participating, and a brief description of the session. Supporting companies will be responsible for providing specific information on their program no later than December 15, 2015. ACNS cannot guarantee that information received after December 15 will be included in Final Program materials. ACNS highly encourages product theater supporters to submit as much information as possible in advance for inclusion on the website and Final Program. Companies submitting thorough descriptions, including the names of instructors, report significantly higher attendance at similar programs.

Product Theater Instructor Eligibility

The sponsoring company is welcome to invite the instructors of their choice, and any number they wish, including either company personnel or physicians, provided that they do not provide compensation of any kind to members of the ACNS-selected Annual Meeting & Course faculty.

Promotion

Product theater supporters are welcome to promote their sessions using their own contacts or distribution channels in advance of the Annual Meeting & Courses. However, all promotional materials, including both print and electronic messages, must be approved by ACNS prior to distribution. Please send a draft of the materials to mhille@acns.org for prompt review. Distribution of materials onsite is restricted - flyers may NOT be placed in session rooms or any other part of the meeting space without written consent from ACNS. Flyers may be distributed from a company's own exhibit booth.
